London and Philadelphia Alike In This Respect.

In her article on "The Myth of the 400," in Cosmopolitan, Mrs. Barton Harrison tells of an American calling upon a lady in London and finding her seated in a big chair by the window engaged in some sort of needlework. A young man came in and paid his respects, as it was her day at home, and then bowed himself out. Three years later the American was again in London, and again he called upon the lady. It was her day at home, and there she sat in the same chair, by the same window with the same needlework, or some very like it, in her hand, and, more remarkable still, the same young man called and made the same remarks he had made three years before. Mrs. Harrison tells this anecdote to show how unchanged things are in England and how you are pretty sure to find people just about as you left them. The illustration is a good one, but I can match it with a better one over here.

I have the pleasure of knowing a family in Philadelphia who have lived in the same house for 40 years. As the children of this family grew up they developed a musical talent from four or five generations of men learned in the law as well as skilled in the bow. Every Sunday between 12 and 1 o'clock it was the custom of the father and the sons to play classic music, the father being first violin, one son violin, one second violin, the other violoncello. They played well, and as I lived near Philadelphia in those days I used to do today I often dropped in at these rehearsals, as they called them.

Five years ago I was in Philadelphia on a Sunday. I had not seen my old friends in 15 years, but I was sure they were living at the old place. I walked around to the house, and as I mounted the marble steps I heard sounds of music. Could it be possible that a "rehearsal" was going on? Yes, sure enough. There sat the father, his hair now white, with his violin tucked under his chin, and the three "boys"—fathers themselves—all playing away as they had been doing since they were children. To be sure, they were married men and did not live at home, but they met every Sunday morning at their father's for the usual music. I expect to run on to Philadelphia again before long, and though it has been at least five years since I was at my old friend's house, I expect to hear the music on Sunday morning, for I shall time my visit so as to include a Sunday.—Critic.

INDIANS ARE GAME DETECTORS.

Will Venture Their All on a Horse Race Their Chief Diversion.

"An Indian horse race is the greatest and most important event of the year to the tribes who participate in it," said Ramon Thompson of Cheyenne to a reporter. "It is totally unlike our equine contests, for to begin with, there is only one race, for which it takes months and weeks to arrange the details, and I must tell you that the average Indian is a remarkably good matchmaker. I do not think I ever saw a race that was not productive of a close, exciting finish. As far as the day is set for the great contest every man, woman and person of both tribes assemble at the appointed place, bringing all their worldly wealth to support their champion. When the day of the race arrives, several large partitioned blankets are spread upon the ground, at either side of which the warriors and chiefs of the opposing tribes range themselves, while behind are the chattering squaws, each bearing the treasures of her lodge. The lead chief of one side generally makes the first bet. Silently and with stolid countenance he steps forward and deposits his furs and other valuables on the blanket, often even going so far as to add his much prized rifle to the whole. The leader of the other side then places articles of a similar value beside the first bet. A grant or a nail, and it is a bet. So it goes down the line, wagers being conducted with a gravity that betrays the occasion, for each tribe knows that its opponents will bet all they have got. Even little groups of ponies are led off to encircle and bunch together, and that means that the loser will walk away a very little poorer than he came. But there is no haggling, no disputes, no exclamations of surprise or chagrin at the result. It is impossible, as far as any outward demonstration is concerned, to distinguish the victor from the vanquished, and in that respect I think the American Indian stands alone among the nations of the world."—Atlantic Journal.

A country minister remarked to his wife Sunday noon:
"There was a stranger in church this morning."
"What did he look like?" asked the wife, who was a woman first and a minister's wife afterward.
"I didn't see him."
"Then how did you know there was a stranger there?"
"I found a collar bill in the contribution box."—Zion's Herald.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1895.

THE END OF THE WORLD.

The Saluts of God, a religious denomination, are holding a conference at Grand Junction, Michigan. Large numbers of the Saints have congregated there and the pavilion in which the services are held is packed with eager and attentive listeners. One of the principal speakers is D. S. Warner, who delivered an address on "Prophecy and Revelation." He diagrammed his sermon on a blackboard and painted two changes that would occur in the near future. He showed that 1896 would inaugurate a new epoch in the world and lead on to the millennium. He traced the course of events each year and declared that in 1911 the world would come to an end and time would be no more.

Thousands of people take the greatest possible interest in the address of Mr. Warner, believe it as gospel truth, and declare that the prophecy will be fulfilled. Those outside the Church of the Saints of God do not take much stock in the prophecy and think Warner and his followers are lunatics. The opinions of outsiders, however, do not affect the leaders. They believe a new era will be inaugurated next year, and furnish satisfactory proof from the Bible in support of that belief, and then attend their meetings and declare that they have absolute faith in Prophet Warner.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

The Silver Knight asks the all important question, Will the people unite and overthrow the English gold policy and restore the money of the constitution? In that question is involved the other fundamental question which has been in controversy through all ages: Is man capable of self-government? If yes, the Knight says the people will rescue the government from the hands of foreign agents and make it again the government of the people, for the people, by the people. If no, the growing purchasing power of money, with its attendant calamities of stagnation, poverty, misery and want will reduce the people of this country to the condition of the feudal serfs of the fourteenth century. Republican and Democratic politicians, a vocal commercial press, and the accumulated capital of the civilized world are making every effort to ensnare the people of the United States; but everywhere throughout the land there are manifestations that the giant of liberty will rise again on this continent and hurl from the domain of the great republic the enemies of the human race, who have no honor but treachery, no morality but cowardice, no generosity but avarice, and no hope but the possession of all gotten gain, secured by the devotion of the country of their birth.

SHIPPING WOOL TO ENGLAND.

According to the market reports wool must be cheaper in the United States than it is in Europe. The London market is so stiff that wools from the Western States are in demand for shipment to England. A sale of half a million pounds of Montana staple has been made to London buyers. They wanted a million and a half pounds and made a bid for that quantity but it was not accepted.

The statement that wool produced as far west as Utah, Montana and Idaho is being bought for shipment to Europe seems incredible, yet it is a fact. It indicates that wool can be produced in the United States cheaper than in any other country, as English manufacturers buy in the cheapest market. Possibly they may require western wools for a special purpose, but the fact that our wools find a better market in Europe than at home will be new to many.

The Durrant case goes over until Tuesday morning. The defendant's statement does not satisfy anybody of his innocence. Under the cross-examination of the District Attorney he only proved his total lack of sensibility, as an innocent man, acquainted with the murdered girl, would have exhibited some feeling when confronted with a lay figure draped with the garments worn by her the last time she was seen alive. Durrant displayed no emotion whatever under the most trying circumstances, but seemed as staid as a wooden Indian.

The enumeration of voters in Indiana, just completed by the State Auditor in accordance with law, shows that there are 627,072 voters in the state, of whom 613,750 are white and 13,322 colored. There is a notable discrepancy between the number of voters reported by the trustees and the number of men who are assessed for poll taxes, and the footings show that over 250,000 men escape poll tax in the state.

The Republicans and Democrats are opposed to the organization of a third party by the people for the restoration of silver, yet those parties organize a third party in Congress to prevent the restoration of silver. The politicians want privileges which they do not want to give the people.

Chicago railroads, that is roads centering in that city, have ordered fifteen thousand new cars and one hundred and sixty new locomotives. This indicates a business revival, as the orders are the largest for years.

THE BIG FIGHT.

It Will Probably Take Place at Hot Springs, Ark.

THE CUBAN SYMPATHIZERS.

A Decision Rendered in Favor of Mrs. Stanford.

ABOUT THE FIGHT.

Governor Clark of Arkansas is Not Opposed to It.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., October 12.—The Corbett-Fitzsimmons sentiment here and at Hot Springs is overwhelmingly in favor of the contest. It is well known here that personally Governor Clarke is not violently opposed to the proposed contest, but he is quoted as having said recently that seven-tenths of the people of Arkansas wanted it and two-tenths were indifferent, and that all the clamor against it came from the other tenth of the population. When Jullie brought the matter to the Governor's attention officially, however, he was obliged to act and at once began a close investigation of his authority.

He discovered that the Act of 1891 making prize fighting a felony was never passed. The two houses could not agree and the bill was sent to the Conference Committee. When a report was presented in the House it was adopted simply by a viva voce vote, the yeas and nays not having been called. As the law of 1893 sought to amend this Act it would seem that there is no law in the subject of prize fighting in this state. The law relating to riots, unlawful assemblages, etc., passed in 1893, could perhaps be brought into requisition to cover the case should the Governor deem it necessary to go to extreme measures.

By this law the Government is authorized to call out the militia without waiting for a call for assistance from local authorities and he is empowered to expel with force all disturbers of the peace. In this connection it is an interesting fact that since the Legislature refused to appropriate money for the maintenance of the State militia that nearly every company of citizen soldiers in the State has disbanded. The more enthusiastic advocates of the prize fight have not lost confidence in the Hot Springs Committee and believe that the match will be brought off.

AUSTIN, Tex., October 12.—A well known sporting man of this city says there is but one place on the American continent where the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight can be pulled off and that is New Laredo, Mexico. He adds that three weeks ago the Florida Athletic Club signed papers to have the fight in a bull ring at New Laredo and up to that hour have not asked for a release from the contract.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., October 12.—Governor Clarke's pronouncement against the fight seems to have but little effect on the matters at Hot Springs. The indications are that the fight will be brought off October 31st. It is estimated that 40,000 people will come to the State to attend the fight, including many men of wealth.

MRS. STANFORD WINS.

A Decision in Her Favor—Enthusiasm at Stanford University.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 12.—The United States Court of Appeals has decided in favor of Mrs. Stanford on the appeal taken from the decision of Judge Ross sustaining the demurrer of Mrs. Stanford in the suit brought to recover $15,337,000 alleged to be due the Government from the estate of Leland Stanford on account of Central Pacific bonds. The decision was handed down to-day, signed by Circuit Judge Gilbert and District Judges Morrow and Hawley. The decision holds that if the liability exists, it is purely a creature of the statute and there is no relief to be obtained in the premises from a suit in equity. The proposition of the Government is now to appeal the case at once to the Supreme Court of the United States.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, October 11.—When the decision in the Stanford suit was announced here at noon, the greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the students in the dormitories. The students went wild, shaking hands and hugging each other and yelling themselves hoarse. Steam whistles were kept blowing, and the students with horns and cowbells marched about the campus making as much noise as possible. A grand parade will be held this evening celebrating the event.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Mayor Sutro Asks If His Laws Must be Obeyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 12.—Mayor Sutro called the attention of the Grand Jury to the action of Quarantine Officer Chalmers in ignoring the order of the Board of Health to quarantine the Australia the last time she arrived from Honolulu. Instead of carrying out the order of the Board, Dr. Chalmers accepted the advice of Dr. Peckham, the United States Quarantine Officer in charge of the port, and al-

DON'T think you run any risk in sending to Weinstein, Lubin & Co., Sacramento, for any thing you need. Goods not as ordered are returnable at their expense. This is one reason why they try so hard to have things just right the first time.

DON'T make the mistake of thinking you can buy elsewhere to as good advantage. Weinstein, Lubin & Co.'s prices, styles and qualities have brought them the largest general retail trade on the Coast. Is that not a public verdict that they hold first place?

lowest the steamer to dock 67 passengers, who were allowed to go ashore.

The Grand Jury was requested to ascertain whether or not Dr. Chalmers is bound to obey the instructions of the Board of Health and whether or not as a State officer he is obliged to enforce its laws. The Mayor asks the Grand Jury to consult the District Attorney and take what action is necessary to reach a clear understanding of what authority is vested in the Board of Health.

THE INHERITANCE TRIAL.

Its Constitutionality to be Tested in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 12.—The ex-entors of the Wilmerding estate propose to test the constitutionality of the inheritance tax, on the grounds that estates under $500 are exempt from the tax. This is said to be in violation of the provisions of the Constitution, that all legislation in this direction shall have a uniform application. Judge O'Connell has upheld the act and the case will be carried to the Supreme Court. Wilmerding, who was a liquor merchant, left an estate valued at $2,000,000. If the act is held to be constitutional the Stanford estate will pay a tax of $200,000.

Sympathy for Cuba.

WASHINGTON, October 12.—Attorney General Harmon within the last few weeks has received a large number of letters making inquiries as to the rights of American citizens under international law with respect to expressing their sympathy with Cuba. General Harmon says that the organization of a military force in the United States in aid of the insurrection of Cuba would be in direct violation of the laws.

INTERCONVERTIBILITY.

The Free Coinage of the American Product Not Endorsed by the Rothschilds.

Editor, Journal.—The professional campaigners of Reno, who were so bolterous about the free coinage of the American product of silver a few weeks ago, have recently become as silent as the grave about it. Dame Ramor says they have received instructions not to press the matter any further, but to drop it and try to work up as much enthusiasm on the interconvertibility of United States money as possible. Rothschilds has given his instructions to the steering committee of the two old parties and the Reno professionals will not disobey orders.

Rothschilds are very crafty financiers, it is hereditary in the family. The five banking houses of the Rothschilds, and their branch establishments, own at least four-sevenths of all the national bonds of the world. Their appetite for more bonds has become voracious. They have settled on the United States as their next victim. The United States must be bonded to its full capacity or Rothschilds and the Reno contingent will know the reason why. Interconvertibility is going to be the battle cry in the next campaign. The greenbacks, national bank notes, United States Treasury notes, silver certificates, silver dollars, halves and quarters, must be convertible into gold on demand, and the United States Treasury must be prepared to meet this demand by a gold reserve of sufficient magnitude to insure its fulfillment.

Mr. Editor this is the most gigantic bond scheme ever known. If successful these crafty bondholders will be able to force the government to issue bonds faster than was done during the civil war. Is it not almost time that Uncle Sam began to assert his manhood and have his stamp respected without receiving instructions from the bondholders? A simple act of Congress prohibiting any discrimination against any kind of United States money would remove the necessity of a gold reserve or the issuance of any more bonds. Uncle Sam has the authority to make his stamp respected and no bondholder should be allowed to place any exception clause on it.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

An Employee of C. Becker's Brewery Has a Close Call.

Henry Bertram, day engineer at C Becker's brewery, had a narrow escape from being burned to death yesterday morning. He had retired at his usual hour—10:30—the evening before, taking with him to his room a tallow candle. After getting into bed he blew the light out, and the supposition is that he blew a spark from the wick into a pile of papers on the stand where the light stood.

About 1 o'clock he was awakened by an intense pain in the region of his left shoulder and neck, and found the entire room in a blaze. He succeeded in putting the fire out after considerable hard work, and then began to sum up the damages.

His summary is as follows: "Four plasters on my back and side; furniture gone to pieces; and I lose the finest pair of pants you ever see."

Judging from the looks of the room after the flames had been subdued, Mr. Bertram had about the closest shave one could have and live.

Justice Court.

The examination of Pete Pedreini took place before Judge Linn yesterday. Several witnesses were examined regarding the row and stabbing of Thos Burke by Pedreini at the Pyramid House on the night of September 20th. The testimony covered the ground from the beginning of the fight until the stabbing took place. The testimony seemed to show that the affair was the result of a general drunken brawl. At the conclusion of the examination Judge Linn held the defendant to appear before the Grand Jury.

District Attorney Norcross represented the State, and Hon. S. Sommerfeld appeared for the defendant.

Mrs. Ballington Booth to Speak in Reno.

Mrs. Ballington Booth of the Salvation Army will pass through Reno on Monday evening en route to San Francisco, where she will hold a series of big meetings. She is recognized as one of the greatest woman speakers of the age, and has kindly consented to give a ten minutes talk in Reno while the train stops here. She will speak on Commercial Row in front of the White House clothing store, and it is expected she will be greeted by a large audience.

A Rumor of Smallpox in Town.

It was rumored that there were a couple of cases of smallpox in town. Investigation disclosed, however, that the smallpox cases were merely cases of illness produced by vaccination. A little girl named Annie Elam was vaccinated and an eruption broke out on her body which led some people to believe that she had smallpox. The other case was that of a child living near Chinatown, whose name was not learned.—Chronicle.

"Jane."

Bright and breezy "Jane," with the endorsement of five seasons genuine success, comes to Reno, Friday, October 13th, next week. Nicholas and Lostco stand in the very front rank of American playwrights, but they have turned out nothing so fairly amusing as "Jane," and it will be anxiously awaited by theater goers. The special cast provided is well suited to the purposes.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE COLORADO DESERT.

It Will be Mapped in the Interest of Prospectors.

The Supervisors of San Bernardino county, after consultation with mining men and civil engineers, have decided to designate on a suitable map the roads, trails, water supplies and prominent land marks of the Colorado desert. Heretofore many lives have been lost, and the object in view is to make it possible for prospectors to traverse that arid region with comparative safety. In addition to this sign boards are to be erected at water supplies and also along the trails and roads, giving any information that may be needed, especially as regards the nearest water courses. There is also talk of developing water where none is found, and of cleaning and protecting springs from pollution by wild animals and careless prospectors.

During the last thirty years fully $20,000,000 worth of ore has been taken from the desert mines in this county, and there is every indication that the output in the future will be even greater than in the past. If this is so the trade of the desert will form a considerable market for the products of the valleys, and the supervisors are anxious to help the mineral development in every way.

NOT MALIGNANT.

The Smallpox at the Indian School of a Mile Type—Patients Never Tried to Escape.

Several Nevada exchanges, as well as those of California, persist in reporting that the smallpox now afflicting some of the Indians at the school near Carson is of a malignant type. This is absolutely false and a correction is in order. When the cases were first reported Dr. Lee stated particularly that the cases were mild varioloid, in fact, and it was so published in the Carson papers, but some outside journals, in their anxiety to create a little excitement, enlarged considerably upon the facts.

Dr. Lee has been particularly successful in keeping the contagion confined to the pupils of the schools, and also in his treatment of the cases, not a death having occurred, although 23 patients have been in the pesthouse. Of these twenty-three, ten were discharged as cured Tuesday and sent back to school. Two more were sent back yesterday, and Dr. Lee is of the opinion that no new cases will crop out.

The Indians have never made any attempt to escape since the disease made its appearance, all reports to the contrary, notwithstanding.—Carson News.

A Good Cure.

Let any victim of the liquor habit eat tomatoes sprinkled with salt, consuming as much each day as possible. Let the eating of tomatoes and salt to excess be continued for several days, and the person will find liquor offensive, and if drunk will be ungrateful to the stomach, and will be thrown up. This is the cheapest gold cure yet heard of and it is said to be very effective.

The Court also denied McEnerny's motion to dismiss the case for lack of jurisdiction.
